

CURREY & COMPANY

For Immediate Release April 21, 2012

Contact: Bethanne Matari 678 533 1474 bmatari@curreyco.com

Cutting a Rug

Currey & Company is proud to introduce a new product category at this April's High Point Market. After two years of design and development, our handmade rug collection is ready to be debuted. The initial collection consists of eight designs available in 6' x 9', 8' x 10', 9' x 12' and 10' x 12'. Inspired by historical and tribal designs, our rugs are knotted by hand of high quality New Zealand wool blend. Subtle colorations are created with Swiss dyes. Meticulous craftsmanship ensures that our ethically produced rugs will last for decades. Cecil Adams, Creative Director, provided guidance and expertise in the creation of this collection. Cecil adds: "Traditional designs have been interpreted in new color palettes to appeal to 21st century sensibilities. Rugs have been processed to achieve an antique patina and a well-loved appearance."

Khyber Rug

The Khyber Rug is inspired by a Khotan rug from Central Asia. Medallions of cream and pale aqua are enclosed by Asian fretwork in pale wheat all cast upon a warm rust red background. The diagonal repeated design of the border gives this rug a playful contemporary edge.

Less is more as Currey presents a new twist on the classic floral motif in the Kermanshah Rug. In this version, the traditional burgundy red, blush pink and navy blue have been replaced by tones of pale blue in both ground and border while the floral elements have been cast in shades of cream and gray. These simple changes have reduced the massiveness of the design while giving an ethereal, watery appearance to the rug.

Kermanshah Rug

Finally, we can say that we give our customers a true floor-to-ceiling shopping experience. Embrace your tactile sense and add the warmth of a hand knotted rug to your environment. Pleasant irregularities are innate in all handmade rugs and give authenticity to each piece.

Digital images of Currey & Company products are available upon request.

Contact: Bethanne Matari 678 533 1474 bmadari@curreyco.com

Visit our website: www.curreyandcompany.com

TWITTER - @CurreyCo

FACEBOOK – facebook.com/CurreyCo